There is a valuable witness in town who is willing to appear before the Commissioners. He knows more about horses than any man in the Street-Cleaning Department.

He is Dr. James Hamill, of East Fourteenth street. Dr. Hamill is a veteran veterinary surgeon, and for years was in the Government service.

For seven years he was in the employ of the city as veterinary surgeon in the Street-Cleaning Department. Upon the Street-Cleaning Department. Upon his knowledge, judgment and advice hundreds of horses have been purchased by the city, and when it comes to talking about horses for the Street-Cleaning Department, Dr. Hamill knows "where he is at."

"The thanks of every honest citizen and taxpayer are due to "The Evening World," said Dr. Hamill.

"The expose of he fraudulent methods of purchasing horses for the Street-Cleraning Department is both timely and right. I have read all of the articles printed the far, and I agree with you in both facts and figures."

Dr. Hamill then proceeded to make the following statement, covering his seven years' service as veterinary surgeon for the Street-Cleaning Department:

States."

"I was the veterinary surgeon for the Department from November, 1884, until December, 1891. Mr. Coleman was City Street-Cicaning Commissioner when I entered the Department. At that time there were only 76 horses in the Department and only one stable—on Seventeenth street, near Avenue C. At that time 24 of the horses were idle and 21 others were not in proper condition to work on the streets. The balance I found no extra good horses in the place. Mr. Bacon was Superintendent of Stables at that time, and sent for me upon some friend's recommendation to look after his horses and see if I could not improve the stables. "It was about this time that the politicians forced Superintendent of Stables Bacon out of his office, and Michael Kennedy succeeded him.

"Commissioner Beattle came into office in 1889, and in the Spring of 1896 began buying horses for the Department. We got some good stock, but no extensive purchases were made.

"In 1891, when Thomas Brennan became City Street-Cleaning Commissioner, my troubles commenced. The first four thorses coming into the stable were not work horses, but light animals for driving purposes. They were bought at $160 each. I was not asked to examine or pass on them. Commissioner Brennan had bought them somewhere at auction. each. I was not asked to examine or pass on them. Commissioner Brennan had bought them somewhere at auction.
